

Alstonia actinophylla — Milkwood

Scientific Name:

Alstonia actinophylla

Common Name:

Milkwood

Register Number:

177

Location of Tree:

Charles Darwin University
Casuarina Campus, Nightcliff,
Darwin NT

GPS:

-12.37367, 130.86931

Categories of Significance:

Aesthetic
Size
Age
Cultural Unique Location
Habitat

Year Listed:

1994

This tree is an exceptionally large Milkwood that is remnant of the original vegetation occurring on the campus on the Northern Territory University (now Charles Darwin University).

The individual has been incorporated into the gardens outside the Printmaking room. It provides an important contribution to the visual landscape of the campus, where unfortunately few of the remnant trees have survived. This tree still has it's original STR plaque visible.

Proudly sponsored by

Northern Territory
Government