On the 2nd of September 1986 George Brown reported: "This tree has survived three cyclones without damage. Following Tracy the tree stood proudly above the destroyed houses around it. The tree is now the subject of argument. Unfortunately the tenant, who wants the tree to remain, is not the owner. The Commonwealth Government is the owner and can only explain that a neighbour wants the tree removed. The majority of neighbours wish the tree to remain. I support their concern."

Unfortunately the tree was removed in 1990.
